MUCH PAVING WORK NOW BEING STARTED ON CHARLEROI STREETS

Contracts For Improvement On Various Streets Aggregate $30,000 or $40,000

VARIOUS CONTRACTORS BUSY

Between $30,000 and $40,000 worth of paving is now under way or just being started in Charleroi. This is the direct result of the passage of a bond issue for $75,000 voted by the people last November. The money is being spent as needed on the various streets. As at first apportioned, $10,000 of the $75,000 was set aside for the purchase of property and the erection of a new borough building. On this little has been done yet, save to acquire a site at the corner of Fourth street and Fallowfield avenue.

On May 5, council awarded a lump contract for the paving of Meadow avenue from First to Fourth streets, Eighth street from McKean to the railroad, and of First street from McKean avenue to Fallowfield avenue. Todd and Baker of Uniontown for the three sections had in a total bid of $11,325.20, and they were awarded the contract. Work is now well under way on Meadow avenue. While the other two sections will be completed soon.

Last week contracts aggregating in the total, $18,519.25 were awarded by council and the contractors are starting their work. The contracts awarded were for Third street, Meadow a venue, Seventh street and Tenth street. Third street paving will cost $9,667.50, Meadow avenue paving from Fifth street to Seventh $2,977. Seventh street from Lincoln avenue to Crest avenue $2,939.67 and Tenth street $1,361.95.

Notice to the Public. Since we have published our new price list, some people are under the impression that it is our purpose to make our customers pay more than necessary.

This is not the case and to prove it we desire to place the following facts before the people:

For the past three or four years a general increase in wages has been granted to all trades, plumbers, carpenters, blacksmiths, street car men, miners, etc., to meet the increased cost of living.

The teamsters of this town have not received any advance in wages but have been compelled to meet a steady increase on expenses as for instance, shoeing horses three years ago cost $1.40 while we pay $2.00 now. Hay, oats, straw have taken a raise from 50 to 100 per cent in the same time.

The price of harness, wagons, horses and repairs have all been advanced. In all fairness we are not entitled to a raise in our prices to meet these new conditions? We ask your fair consideration of the above facts. Respectfully submitted for the Master Teamsters Association J. Latchem, Pres. L. Heffner, Sec'y.

BUYER OF THE FIRST PEOPLE SETS THE PACE AT A DOLLAR

A. Lenfant Pays One Dollar as His Contribution to Benefit Work in Charleroi.

It didn't take long for the sale of flowers to begin this morning for the benefit of the Belgian relief fund, for there was a man waiting at 425 Fallowfield avenue to make his purchase when the flowers were brought in before 9 o'clock from the Haube greenhouses. The man was A. Lenfant, a milkman and he insisted that he be sold one immediately, since he might be so busily engaged later in the day that he might be missed. He plunked down a one dollar bill, and said that was his first contribution.

The peonies, for that is the variety of flower being sold, were brought in on the police patrol by Chief of Police C. W. Albright, Burgess S. L. Woodward and H. E. Price of the Mail.

IMPRESSIVE RITES AT INSTALLATION

Rev. Andrew J. Whipkey Receives Formal Charge at First Presbyterian Church--Dr. McEwan Delivers Charge to Him, Rev. Burson to Congregation

Impressive rites characterized the formal installation of Rev. Andrew J. Whipkey as pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Rev. W. F. McKee, D. D., of Monongahela served as moderator in the absence of Rev. Mitland Alexander, D. D., L. L. D., of Pittsburgh who was detained by reason of illness from coming.

The evening's exercises opened with an organ prelude the march from Tannhauser, Wagner, by Miss Leila Orange, the organist. The choir sang an anthem, "The Lord is my Strength," Adams, W. C. Clark being the choir director. Following the singing of the doxology Dr. McKee said the invocation, a hymn and the scripture reading by Rev. Perrin Baker, D. D., of Belle Vernon, followed Mrs. I. T. Daniel sang beautifully a soprano solo.

Rev. McKee preached the sermon, taking up the theme of "The Great Commission." One of his points was that of ministry and he brought out forcibly that the one who would be the greatest must be willing to be the least.

Rev. McKee propounded the constitutional questions to the pastor and the people, all of course being satisfactorily answered.

Rev. Joseph E. Charles, Ph. D., pastor of the French Presbyterian church of Charleroi, offered the installation prayer. Then Rev. W. L. McEwan, D. D. charged the pastor as to his duties and Rev. John R. Burson, pastor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, delivered the charge to the people concerning their regard for the pastor and the duties that they would have to do. A hymn and the benediction closed the evening's events save for the informal reception that was tendered Rev. Whipkey. This occasion was one of general handshaking.

ATTEMPTED TO CRAWL UNDER CAR

Bentleyville Child Meets Death When Train Passes Over Body

RUSH TO HOSPITAL IN VAIN

Anna Dorozick, aged eight years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dorozick of Bentleyville was so badly injured when run over by a freight train at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon that her death occurred Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Memorial hospital, in Monongahela, where she was removed on the train that fatally hurt her.

The little girl was sent on an errand but as she reached the tracks a freight train was standing there. Being in a hurry she attempted to crawl under one of the cars. As she did so the train started with a jerk and the child had her right leg and right arm amputated before the engineer could be signaled to stop the train.

The funeral arrangements have not been made, the body being removed to the Bebout morgue in Monongahela to be prepared for burial. It will likely be taken to the home in Bentleyville tomorrow morning.

Monongahela Boy Sinks To Death After Saving Companion

RESCUER OF THREE LIVES

Completely exhausted by his efforts in saving a boy companion whom he had landed safely on the bank, Horace Foreman, aged 19 years, son of Mrs. Florence Foreman of Monongahela tumbled back into the waters of Pigeon creek Friday afternoon and drowned. He was a hero among the boys of Monongahela, having effected two other rescues besides the one he made Friday that had so tragic an ending.

The Foreman boy and a number of companions were swimming in Pigeon creek, near the Bryan park. Getting beyond his depth and commencing to sink, Vincent Eckles, a young lad, cried for help. Foreman was the first to hurry to him. After a hard struggle he kept Eckles afloat and towed him safely to the bank. Evidently his strength gone, the hero as he started to climb out on the bank himself, fell backward and plunged into the water of the creek. His companions were unable to rescue him.

A few minutes later James Bovi, who was among those summoned to the scene, dived into the creek and recovered the body. All the methods or resuscitating drowned persons were tried but to no avail. The body was then removed to the Bebout mortuary to be prepared for burial. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

Mrs. Foreman, who is a widow and was employed Friday canvassing in Donora, could not be located to be told of the sad fate that had befallen her only so until late Friday evening.

STARVING BELGIUM

Most persons on reading that the American Commission for the Relief of Belgium had raised $65,000,000 and had managed to feed not only the 7,000,000 sufferers there but more than two millions in France, where the Germans are in occupation, have assumed that all this money had come from the United States. This is an error, but it is a fact that it has been raised by the American Commission under circumstances which have no parallel in history and which show that brains count for more than money in a crisis.

At the start the commission was almost helpless. Its activities were distributed as carefully as possible wherever they could reach the destitute, but this was soon seen to be a mere makeshift which could not last long. What the commission did was to organize the finances and the industry of Belgium, to erect a great banking and commercial trading institution whereby money and credit were exchanged for provisions. Gold disappeared but there was an abundance of paper money. The commission made all who had the money pay for food and when money was gone accepted credit slips. Then they managed to get the Germans to agree to let the commission collect foreign debts to Belgians in gold and pay the creditors in the paper money. Eventually this extended much further, so that a Belgian industry has to some extent revived and no one is starving.

Here we have an instance of foresight and organizing and executive capacity which accomplished this. Americans have contributed largely of money and provisions, but less than $10,000,000 in all, although this has been enough to keep the system working for the commission confined to securing provisions and has bought provisions and sold them at lower than London prices, while the people have been kept alive.

In all the long history of benevolent achievement we think this is the most notable. It must be remembered that the American Commission in London consisted of many eminent business men who applied the same principles to relief that they had done to commercial transactions. When the war is ended and the whole Belgian relief story is told it will be one of the brightest chapters in the conflict and one in which every American can take pride.

"COMMUNITY CONSCIOUSNESS"

"Community consciousness" is a term which well expresses what is going on among the people of any locality. It is the perception which is in the minds of the people as a whole, says the Washington Observer. If there is such a thing as consciousness in any community then it is easy to crystallize the thoughts of the people into action.

But it is important first to have this consciousness in a community. After it has been secured then it is easy to do anything.

When many minds work together for the same thing, have the same ideas, are interested in the same subjects and all are willing to do things, makes sacrifices and work with and for others, then there is developed a general feeling or perception in a community which works out the problems which come before it.

And this feeling spreads. It permeates, it reaches into the outlying districts and has a wire influence. This is something that we must try to conserve, to cultivate, to increase.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"I once conceived the beautiful idea," says a certain school teacher, "of requiring that my pupils should write for their daily exercise a brief account of a baseball game."

"One boy sat through the period seemingly wrapped in thought, while the others worked hard and turned in their narratives. After school I approached the desk of the laggard."

"I'll give you five minutes to write that description," I said, sternly. "If it is not done by that time I shall punish you."

"The lad promptly concentrated all his attention upon the theme. At last, with joyful eagerness, he scratched a line on his tablet and handed it to me. It read:

"Rain—no game."

"Do I believe in lawyers?" said the little man, bitterly. "No sir; I do not."

"Why not?" asked his companion.

"Because a lawyer never says right out what he means," retorted the small man, viciously. "He twists things about so. Suppose he wanted to tell you that two and two make four; he'd begin: 'If by that addition we desire to arrive at the particular arithmetical rule known as sum of two added by two, we should find—and I say this boldly, without fear of contradiction—I repeat, we should find by that particular arithmetical formula hereinbefore mentioned—and, sir, I take all responsibility for the statement I am about to make—that the sum of the two given added to the other two would be four.'"

"No sir," finished the little man, coldly: "I do not believe in lawyers."

Herbert, the six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dunn, of Oneida street, Monessen met with an accident Friday afternoon about 3 o'clock while playing with a number of other boys on a concrete mixer at the corner of Knox avenue and Oreida street.

The mixer was attached to a wagon and when the driver started, the Dunn lad fell between the wagon and the mixer, his face, making a bad scar on his right side, while his thigh and knees on the left side were badly grazed. His ribs on the right side were bruised and the middle fingers of both hands were badly crushed as the wheels passed over them.

Some men who happened to be in the vicinity rushed to his assistance and probably saved his life when they pulled him from beneath the mixer before the back wheels had passed over his head. He is at the home of his parents and despite his numerous injuries will recover.

An early morning prayer meeting is the first thing on the program Friday. Elementary, secondary, adult and home departmental conferences come at 8:30. The county superintendent's union has charge of the program from 9:30 until their third annual dinner at 12:15.

Friday afternoon is full to overflowing. There will be several addresses and a business session. The evening lecture by Rev. Isaac Taylor Headland, D. D. will be the climax of a great convention.

Each Sunday school in the county is entitled to four delegates, the pastor, the superintendent and two others. Each delegate will pay an enrollment fee of 50 cents to help defray the expense of the convention.

Next Sunday Charleroi Sunday schools will name their delegates, and it is expected that Charleroi will be well represented at the convention and Charleroi people will have an important part in affairs.

WILD WEST SHOW IN PURCHASING BUSINESS FOR ARMY EQUIPMENT

The recent exploit of Jos. C. Miller, the Oklahoma ranchman and one of the owners of Miller Bros. & Arlington's 101 Ranch Wild West show, in buying a tramp steamer in order to facilitate the shipment of horses consigned to the British, French and Greek governments, adds another to the many notable achievements of this indefatigable cattleman. The syndicate headed by Mr. Miller has already sent several thousand horses to the European belligerents, and several thousand more are contracted for. It was the impossibility of securing transportation that necessitated the purchase of the steamer.

Another notable instance of "striking the iron while it is hot" was Mr. Miller's purchase of the equipment of an entire Mexican army two years ago. When Villa defeated the Huertistas at Ojibaga, and they fled across the international line and were interned at Ft. Bliss by the United States authorities, they rode their ponies, carried their arms and succeeded in saving several field pieces. Mr. Miller made a bee-line for El Paso, got in touch with the entire outfit, including about 3,200 ponies, with rifles, revolvers and field pieces, sent the ponies to the 101 Ranch at Bliss, Oklahoma, and then proceeded to negotiate a deal with Villa for the purchase of the arms and artillery. The entire deal was consummated inside of five days, and netted the cattleman a royal profit.

The Mexican ponies were turned loose on the ranch, and many of them were afterwards sold to the United States and other governments. Fifty of them, it is announced, are being utilized in the broncho-busting contests in the 101 Ranch Wild West show, which Charleroi will see Wednesday, June 16, in conjunction with Jess Willard, the cowboy champion of the world, and probably a hundred of them are still running at large on the range.

The coming of Willard, by the way, is accentuating interest in the 101 Ranch show, and the combination is one that should add greatly to the strenuous effectiveness of the exhibition. The champion, it is announced, will make his first appearance in the role of a cowboy, and later in the performance he will be seen in ring costume with a sparring partner and illustrate the famous twenty-sixth round which resulted so disastrously for the former colored champion. This great feature and what is declared to be the greatest congress of cow-punchers, cowgirls, Indians, Mexicans and other typical Wild West people ever seen in a single exhibition, are depended upon to give the public a full measure of exhilarating entertainment. The parade takes place at 10:30.

W. & J. Athletes Among Leading Students in Graduating Class

Middle row—John Elder, Maurice M. Witherspoon, Reginald Boville, Burleigh Cruikshank.
Lower row—Victor D. Younkens, Russell Goodwin, Robert Q. Whitten, John E. Spiegel.

That college students may combine school work and athletics in such a way as to attain fame in both without injury to either is very forcibly demonstrated by the members of the class that will be graduated from Washington and Jefferson on June 16. Twelve seniors who have won their varsity letters in various branches of sport, will leave the institution this year and from this set of 12 will be drawn practically all the honor men of 1915.

It has been W. & J.'s experience that athletes in recent years have usually distinguished themselves in their scholastic work, but the records made by the varsity men of the class of 1915 are such as to draw general attention to the situation this year.

John Elder, of Tidoute, Pa., for four years one of the mainstays of the track team, a long distance runner of merit, will finish among the first two or three in his class. Maurice M. Witherspoon, of Guilford Springs, Pa., one of the finest football tackles ever produced at W. & J., will push Elder for honors. Russell Goodwin, of Wheeling, W. Va., one of the greatest athletes of all time at W. & J., an the only man to hold varsity letters in three branches of sport, has finished his course with such high standing that he has been selected as one of the six speakers on commencement day. He is varsity man in football, baseball and basketball and captained football and basketball teams.

Captain Burleigh Cruikshank, of W. & J.'s great football team of 1914 and who has been called the greatest center in years, has managed in spite of his athletic activity to complete the four-year course in three years and finished among the honor men of his class. He also won varsity insignia in baseball. He lives at West Somerville, Mass.

John Spiegel, of Detroit, Mich., and Victor D. Younkens, of Butler, Pa., stars on football and baseball teams for four years, will be graduated in the honor class, both standing among the first dozen men. Ralph Young, captain of this year's track team, W. & J.'s premier weight hurler, and one of the greatest fullbacks of recent years at the institution, has been named among the first 10 men in scholastic attainment.

John A. McKelvey, of Derry, Pa., Gill Willson, of Sistersville, W. Va.; Robert Q. Whitten, of Marshall, and Stanley W. Smith, of Grove City, are four stars of the track team, who have performed so well in the class room that they have been honorably mentioned in connection with commencement.

AGE NO BAR

Everybody in Charleroi is Eligible. Old people stooped with suffering. Middle age, courageously fighting. Youth protesting impatiently: Children, unable to explain: All in misery from their kidneys. Perhaps a little backache first. Urinary disorders, dropsy may quickly follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys. Are endorsed by thousands. Here's Charleroi testimony. Mrs. W. McBride, 760 Crest ave.

Charleroi says: "One of the family was in misery from pains in the back. Doan's Kidney Pills were used and they brought great benefit. Later there was a return of the old trouble and less than one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Piper Bros., Drug store removed the pain in the back and there has been no suffering since. We think there is nothing equal to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. McBride recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
